

2022 New York State Senate & Assembly Election Questionnaire

About Us

Launched in 2017, Voters For Animal Rights (VFAR) is a New York based 501c(4) grassroots multi-issue animal advocacy organization that is building political power for animals. In 2019, VFAR led the successful campaign to prohibit the sale of foie gras in NYC and to stop wild bird poaching. We also led the campaign to end the use of wild animals in circuses in NYC. We look forward to working with you to win more victories for animals and make the state of New York a leader in compassionate public policy.

VFAR's mission is to elect candidates who support animal protection, lobby for stronger laws to stop animal cruelty, and hold elected officials accountable to humane voters. We mobilize public concern for animals through the political process. Animal protection is a moral and bi-partisan issue. More than 90% of Americans believe that animals need protection from abuse and exploitation. To that end, we organize humane voters to support candidates that care about animals. If you support animals, then we want to support you. There are over 60,000 humane voters throughout New York state, hundreds of whom are VFAR volunteers ready to knock on doors, make phone calls and get out the vote to elect people who will stand up for animals. We deliver the vote – for the animals and for you.

As an example, here is our animal-friendly voter guide from the 2021 NYC election cycle.

Endorsement Process

Candidates seeking our endorsement for the New York State Assembly and Senate are required to fill out this questionnaire and submit it to woof@vfar.org by July 30.

Endorsement decisions are made by VFAR's Board in collaboration with our all-volunteer election team.

Personal Initiatives

1. Do you feel that promoting the humane treatment of animals should be a priority for the New York State Legislature?

Yes. Animals should be treated humanely and without cruelty and I intend to use my seat in Albany to work toward that vision. Thanks to animal advocates like yourselves, I believe New York can be a leader on animal rights.

Ensuring sustainability and combating climate change are key cornerstones of my campaign. In my view, one cannot advocate for those issues without believing in the sanctity of our natural world and its diverse and magnificent array of animals. Therefore, prioritizing sustainability in New York includes addressing unethical treatment of animals. It is in our interest as humans and the interest of animals to ensure that animal welfare is legally protected and that exploitation of animals is not tolerated.

2. Do you have any achievements to date on humane issues, e.g. supporting humane legislation, adopting a shelter pet, volunteering with an animal rescue organization, supporting any national or local animal protection orgs, living a plant-based (vegan or vegetarian) lifestyle, etc.? Did you grow up with or currently live with any companion animals?

I strive to live cruelty free in any way possible, recognizing that I am on the path toward a more sustainable and humane lifestyle. I eat vegetarian for half of the week, and my best friend is my adopted dog Sunny. My partner and I saved Sunny from a shelter, and he is the light of our lives.

Though I have not been able to support any humane legislation yet as this is my first time running for office, I will enthusiastically support the bills indicated 'yes' below. I am particularly excited to advocate for healthy, tasty vegan meal options in schools. We need to make sure children are introduced to a vegan lifestyle option early on and make sure they know eating vegan can be delicious and fun. Sourcing these foods from Fair Trade providers also helps us ensure the foods are healthy and coming from places where workers are treated fairly. We must ensure that our schools receive the funding they need to feed students without cruelty and without environmental devastation.

3. What animal issues will you prioritize and lead on as a member of the NYS legislature?

Alongside many other progressives I have committed myself, if elected, to fight climate change through green and eco-conscious legislation. Climate change doesn't only affect humans, but also directly affects animals across the globe including NY. Animals and humans have been experiencing mutual hardships as a result of climate change and the ecologically destructive practices that exacerbate it. Politicians need to be the ones to stand up for ourselves and our animal co-habitants. One example is our East River, once filled with healthy fish and marine life, the river has become polluted, harming animal life and preventing human recreational use -- further dislocating us from our natural world. I would support an aggressive program to clean up the East River.

Another example is air pollution caused by fossil fuel plants. The toxic air surrounding the plants doesn't only harm humans with increased asthma rates, it also harms our birds who soar through the polluted air. Aside from passing the Build Public Renewables Act, I'll also use my office to fight to close down fossil fuel infrastructure, build new clean energy, to retrofit buildings so they are low or 0 emissions, and to expand public transit access to substantially reduce personal vehicle traffic. This includes helping stop the North Brooklyn Pipeline and the related LNG infrastructure in Greenpoint, and getting bus lanes and eventually busways installed. The onset of climate change affects all of us, animals most of all, and I promise to commit myself to help slow down climate change so that animals and humans can live on a healthy planet.

I also will fully support having a vegan lunch option for schools everyday that is not only nutritious, but is also colorful and delicious. We must show children that eating vegan isn't boring, and the current vegan school lunches don't make vegan food look appealing!

I believe that when schools inhumanely use animals in their classroom to teach children about science, they are inadvertently teaching them that an animal's life is dispensable. Children should be taught how to love animals in school, not dissect them. There are plenty of simulations that can serve the same teaching purposes as current abusive practices without harming animals, so I support legislation that would codify stronger animal protection in classrooms.

Lastly, I support Senator Gianaris' bill to end puppy stores, known as puppy mills, and make sure those animals get adopted. We cannot have breeders forcing litters on animals; it is inhumane and abusive.

4. Will you commit to having a designated person in your office to handle animal issues?

I will make sure my office is committed to fighting for animal rights. Typically, the state doesn't give us enough of a budget to pay for staff to have a living wage as we've seen with Zohran Mamdani's office - he has had to fundraise an extra $20,000 each year just to make sure his 5 staffers have a living wage. Because of this, it will be hard to hire someone just for animal rights and also pay them a living wage. My solution will be to make sure my legislative director is also focused on animal rights issues, as that will fall under legislation. I will also make sure my entire team is aware of the issues and bills mentioned below so that we can continue the fight wherever my team has reach. I look forward to meeting with VFAR to discuss issues and strategy in further detail.

5. How would you work to empower the animal advocacy community to reach new success and growth into the 2023-2025 term and ensure that New York is on the forefront of animal protection?

I look forward to working with animal advocacy groups once I am in office, to listen to what the most important issues are and provide any assistance I can as well as draw attention to these issues, both by rallying my fellow legislators and speaking to the issues in public. My campaign is part of a larger movement for a better New York, as such I have a large network built of organizations that have endorsed me and are working on this campaign. This network will grow as I am elected, and together we can accomplish great things.

PRIORITY LEGISLATION

1. Companion Animals: Pet Stores

Puppy mills are commercial dog-breeding facilities that make money by producing large numbers of puppies as quickly as possible, breeding dogs over and over in cruel conditions. Puppy mills and pet stores have repeatedly been found to have poor sanitation, infectious diseases, overcrowded cages, animals receiving no exercise, proper veterinary care, protection from harsh weather conditions, or adequate food and water. These out-of-state breeders send their puppies into New York via a pipeline of middlemen who ship them to pet stores to be sold to the public. More info here.

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.4283/S.1130 (Rosenthal/Gianaris), which would end the sale of dogs, cats and rabbits in pet stores and promote adoption of these animals?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

2. Protecting New York's Wildlife: Ending Killing Contests

Wildlife killing contests are organized events in which participants compete for cash and prizes for killing the most, heaviest or even smallest animals within a certain time period. These competitive killing events are inhumane, serve no legitimate purpose, and are not a science-based form of wildlife management. They simply glorify and incentivize killing animals. These competitions are considered cruel by many hunters and wildlife management agencies. Eight states, including Vermont, Maryland and Arizona have already prohibited wildlife killing contests.

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.5746/S.6643 (Glick/Kennedy) to end wildlife killing contests in New York State?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

LEGISLATION, BUDGET, AND POLICY

3. Funding for Companion Animal Sheltering and Wildlife Rescue

A. Companion Animal Capital Fund

The New York State Animal Protection Federation's 2021 Shelter Capital Needs Survey shows that there are 26 shelters in New York with capital needs of \$56.7 million. These underfunded animal rescue and sheltering organizations provide vitally needed services and deserve state funding. The failure of New York to fully fund these facilities that serve all New Yorkers demands immediate correction.

Will you support adding $5 million to the New York Companion Animal Capital Fund in each of the Assembly and Senate budget bills?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

B. Companion Animal Care Standards Act for Shelters and Rescues

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.6246-B/S.6870 \(Paulin/Addabbo\) which would recognize and define the full scope of animal sheltering and rescue operations in New York State, and set minimum standards and best practices for animal rescue?

This legislation will:

- Require all personnel to have on-going training on the care of homeless companion animals.
- Require recordkeeping of animals, including their health and behavior.
- Ban dangerous and reckless methods of animal transport.
- Recognize the importance of foster care in animal sheltering, while requiring shelters and rescues to monitor and track all foster providers.
- Require all entities to have a clearly written management structure that defines staff authority, and reporting hierarchy and responsibilities.

- Establish staffing requirements that are sufficient to feed each animal and clean their enclosures.
- Require that the number of animals housed will not exceed the number of humane housing units available and that adequate socialization and exercise be provided.

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

C. Wildlife Rescue and Rehabilitation

New York is home to an immense diversity of wildlife in need of protection. Currently there are only a few brick and mortar wildlife rehabilitation centers in New York State, such as the Wild Bird Fund in Manhattan. However, no state funding is provided to support wildlife rescue and rehabilitation in New York, so this immense burden falls on a small number of privately-funded centers and self-funded volunteer wildlife rehabilitators.

Would you support a funding initiative to expand New York State's capacity for wildlife rescue and rehabilitation?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

4. Animals Used for Fashion: Fur

Fur farms breed and confine animals in tiny, filthy cages where they suffer intense stress and unimaginable cruelty. They are beaten, bludgeoned, electrocuted, and skinned alive. Trapping animals in the wild is no better; animals are trapped in cruel leg hold vices where they can suffer for days in excruciating pain — starving until a trapper returns to shoot or bludgeon them to death. Coyotes often try to chew off their own legs to break free. Many other animals are unintentionally caught and killed in these traps, including household companion animals. California has enacted a ban on the sale of fur. Several countries such as Norway, Croatia, Czech Republic, Germany, Japan, and the U.K. have taken steps to close fur farms. The US House of Representatives has recently voted in favor of legislation to ban mink farming throughout the US. With public awareness and innovative alternatives on the rise, many popular designers have stopped using animal fur. There are ethical alternatives to fur which are not only stylish and warm but environmentally friendly. More info here.

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.703/S.5439 (Rosenthal/Brisport), that would ban the sale of new apparel products using real animal fur?

NOTE FROM VFAR: Per candidate interview 7/29, candidates is a "yes" on supporting the fur ban.

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

I agree with restricting cruel and unethical practices at fur farms, but the text of the bill is very restrictive, even prohibiting the donation of used fur clothes. I believe that donating used fur items will be able to provide warmth to our unhoused community. For example, PETA has a program that accepts furs and distributes them to unhoused people which it seems would be illegal under this legislation. Because of this I would support an amendment to the bill that allows for donations.

5. Animal Testing

Animal testing causes unnecessary pain and suffering; it is archaic, environmentally destructive, and falls short of stated aims of ensuring human and consumer safety.

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.5653/S.4839 (Rosenthal/Biaggi) which would prohibit the manufacture or sale of cosmetics tested on animals?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

Yes, I would cosponsor a bill which would prohibit the manufacture or sale of cosmetics tested on animals. Science has shown that things such as cosmetics do not require testing on animals. I avidly support alternatives to this such as vitro testing. In addition I only buy products that have not been tested on animals. If these products already exist without animal testing, there's absolutely no reason to be testing on animals.

6. Animals Used in Entertainment

A. Rodeo Cruelty

While New York State has limited the use of animals in circuses and other entertainment, rodeos have been left unregulated despite the display of similar, and in many cases, more egregious acts of cruelty. Rodeos typically include an event called "calf roping" where baby calves are shocked with electric prods, forcing them to run as soon as the holding chute opens, only to then be "clotheslined" with a rope and tied at the legs. Panicked calves are routinely injured or killed during these performances. Rodeos also continue to use flank straps or bucking straps, which are tightly fastened around the animal's abdomen and may be used with sharp-ened spurs to cause pain to the animal, which encourages them to buck more violently. Rodeos are responsible for causing death and serious injuries to countless animals for the sole purpose of entertainment and showmanship.

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.2124 (Rosenthal) which would prohibit these practices at rodeos?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

B. Animal Circuses

Circuses that use animals have been widely cited as a source of cruelty and exploitation for animals. Even if the basic levels of care and protection of the federal Animal Welfare Act are met, circuses force wild animals to languish in cages while traveling from performance to performance without ever having the opportunity to exercise natural behaviors. Time after time, circuses have been exposed for beating and whipping animals tying their limbs together to facilitate training, shocking them to ensure compliance, not providing adequate food, water and shelter, and other forms of cruelty.

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.5542/S.4840 (Englebright/Biaggi) which would prohibit the NYS Department of Environmental Conservation from issuing permits or licenses that would authorize wild animals to appear in circuses?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

C. Carriage Horses

Advocates have long exposed the poor working and living conditions for horses used for NYC carriage rides. Despite some improvements implemented over the years, these horses are still forced to travel through NYC traffic to get to and from Central Park; they work long days - sometimes in extreme weather - with blinders and uncomfortable mouth bits and no opportunity for daily turnout. For the past three decades, there have been countless catastrophic incidents and accidents involving NYC carriage horses, several of which have been captured on video by horrified pedestrians. Many carriage horses die on the streets of NYC or are sent to slaughter once they are unable to continue working.

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.342 (Rosenthal) to ban horse carriages in New York City?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

Yes! I will absolutely plan on cosponsoring to ban horse carriages in New York City. I see horse drawn carriages as inefficient, unethical and agitating. In a busy city such as NYC there is no reason to force animals to carry the weight of humans. This business is exploitative and unnecessary. Transportation should not be at the detriment of animals and I would vote YES to legislation banning horse carriages in New York City.

D. Horse Racing

In recent years, attendance at horse racing venues in New York State has sharply declined in part because of the public's increasing disapproval of the cruelty within the industry, the doping scandals, and the high numbers of injuries and deaths. Despite horse racing's diminishing attraction, New York State continues to provide millions of dollars in subsidies each year to prop up the industry. Each year, approximately $250 million in revenue generated by the state's casino industry is diverted to support the horse racing industry. This revenue would be better spent investing in essential public services statewide, such as providing additional funding to the cash-strapped human services sector, education of public school students, the worker protection fund, as well as economic development in communities where racing occurs. A 2021 Marist poll found that just 9% of New Yorkers support state subsidies of horse racing. As the horse racing industry continues to decline in popularity, it is time to reinvest these subsidies in areas that will truly help New Yorkers.

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.8468 \(Rosenthal\), which would redirect subsidies for horse racing to education and to the residents of New York, and A.7745/S.7260 \(Rosenthal/Salazar\) which would end the unfair tax exemptions for the owners of racehorses.

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

E. Zoos

Psychoactive drugs have been utilized on animals in captivity for a variety of issues. The use of these drugs on animals have obvious negative implications on their behavioral health despite the justifications offered by zookeepers. In June 2021, it was reported that Johari, a female gorilla was dosed with Prozac to facilitate a male gorilla to mate with her.

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.8177/S.7284 \(Gonzalez-Rojas/Brisport\), also known as Johari's Law, which would prohibit zoos from giving psychoactive drugs to an animal in order to facilitate procreation.

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

4. Animals Used for Experimentation: School Hatching Projects

Principals and school teachers should end the use of bird-hatching projects and replace them with learning activities that teach life processes without the use of live animals. Classroom incubation and hatching projects of baby chicks and ducks are cruel and lead to the abandonment and death of countless young birds each year. There are rarely plans for the mother birds once the eggs develop and the cute baby birds mature. The hatching-project birds, first deprived of a mother hen, are then routinely abandoned in city parks where they cannot survive on their own or dumped at already overburdened local animal shelters and rescues filled with unwanted animals. Hatching projects foster the belief that animals are disposable objects when they are living creatures requiring lifetime care and commitment. Educational and compassionate alternatives have been developed by the United Federation of Teachers (UFT), HEART, and humane educators. More information can be found here and here.

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.142 (Rosenthal) that would prohibit schools from using eggs, live baby chickens and ducks for classroom projects? For Senate candidates: Would you introduce or cosponsor a senate version of A.142 that would prohibit schools from using eggs, live baby chickens and ducks for classroom projects?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

Yes. There is no reason animals should be subjected to this practice for the purpose of education. There are some great humane alternatives to classroom chick-hatching projects. If elected I would advocate for the use of simulations. There are also multiple ways to emulate this process that can be found online. All you need is a stuffed toy hen, a basket, some straw. Additionally, P.E.A.C.E. has even developed a mobile app called Chick It Out, that interactively leads students through the chick life cycle. With all these alternatives at teachers' disposal, there is no valid reason to use real chicks in these experiments.

5. Food and Farming Practices

A. Vegan Food in Schools

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.301/S.1726 (Gottfried/Hoylman) which would require schools to offer plant-based food options?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

Yes, I fully support improving access to special diets for public schools. School lunch is the main meal of the day for many kids. We need to ensure that school lunches are healthy and available to all by providing vegan, vegetarian, gluten-free and non-GMO options. Sourcing these foods from Fair Trade providers also helps us ensure the foods are healthy and coming from places where workers are treated fairly. Students should not be forced to take part in animal exploitation to eat a healthy and nutritious lunch.

B. Climate-Friendly Purchasing

The food and agriculture sector accounts for approximately one quarter to one third of global greenhouse gas emissions. Research shows that we will not meet important climate goals without shifting to a more sustainable food and agriculture system. Reducing food waste and shifting procurement to plant-forward foods are high-impact climate solutions that will decrease the state's emissions. Shifting food procurement is also a cost-effective climate strategy. New York has a history of using procurement to reflect our environmental and social values. Under the GreenNY program, the state is committed to environmentally preferable purchasing of electronics and appliances, energy sourcing, transportation equipment, and more.

Would you cosponsor and vote for A.6241/S.740 (Fahy/Biaggi) which would establish a methodology for state agencies to estimate, to the extent practicable, the greenhouse gas emissions that occur through the life cycle of all food and beverages purchased by state agencies, including third-party vendors that provide food on their behalf?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

I believe this is very important, having a baseline idea of how many greenhouse gas emissions occur will be the first step in leading us in the fight against these greenhouse gas emissions. It will show us where we need to prioritize changes and move forward from there.

C. Dairy Subsidies and transition to plant-based suppliers in New York State

Milk and other dairy products are top agricultural products in New York State, but demand for and sales of dairy products in New York and the U.S. have dropped precipitously in recent years, while sales of non-dairy milks have substantially grown. This change comes as more research and information illuminate the harmful effects of dairy on adult and children's health, the environment and animal welfare. Regardless of the quality of individual animal care offered by a given farm, dairy production necessarily involves farmers taking newborn calves from their mothers who bellow and chase after them. Instead of a mother's milk going to her babies, her calves are taken to veal farms where they are kept isolated in row upon row of small plastic huts to prevent movement and soften their muscles into atrophy. Perhaps worst of all, forcibly impregnating, tail docking, and beating downed cows are standard practices on NY dairy farms. Former dairy companies like long-time New York producers like Elmhurst Dairy are making the switch to non-dairy products. New York-based companies are offering healthy plant-based foods, yet every year taxpayers are subsidizing New York's dairies with as much as $60 million in credits.

Would you support reducing and redirecting the massive financial subsidies that New York provides the dairy industry, and reallocating this to support plant-based local farming initiatives?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

Yes, to combat climate change it is essential to pivot away from meat and dairy as primary protein sources. I strongly support providing students in schools with plant based options and not forcing them to eat meat. People are turning away from meat and dairy, and we should not be wasting taxpayer money on subsidizing these industries, but should instead ensure that modern food is available to a wider audience.

B. Farming Practices

There are more than 600 factory farms in New York State that intensively confine animals and engage in heinously cruel practices such as castration of pigs, cows, and other mammals without painkillers; “debeaking” or “beak cutting” of chickens and turkeys without painkillers; and confinement of egg-laying hens in battery cages, baby cows in veal crates, and pigs in gestation crates. Factory farms are degrading the environment and poisoning our communities.

There are also 80+ slaughterhouses and live animal markets throughout the five boroughs of NYC, more than any other U.S. city. Experts have stated that these facilities in New York are no different than the live animal markets abroad where COVID-19 started. In addition to brutally cruel treatment of the animals (tiny cages, no vet care, severely limited food and water), these storefront facilities pose a significant health and safety hazard to the community and severely impact the neighborhood residents’ quality of life. Blood, feces, urine, dismembered body parts, and feathers are routinely found on public sidewalks and streets. They are also a breeding ground for infectious diseases — avian flu has been found in several NYC live animal markets and many are located close to schools and playgrounds. Additionally, when large animals such as cows, bulls, and goats escape (as routinely happens, including during transport), it puts us all in danger and has even caused a multi-hour traffic jam on the Verrazano Bridge. Sometimes these animals are allowed to be rescued by a farm animal sanctuary but most often they are killed.

Especially in light of pandemics that originate from crowded, unsanitary live animal markets, would you support a permanent ban on the operation of all factory farms? Would you support legislation A.10399/S.8291 (Rosenthal/Sepulveda) that would regulate the operation of live animal markets in New York City?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

Yes. Factory farms are an unsanitary, and outdated industry that should no longer be legal to operate, and live animal markets need to be regulated to ensure there is no animal abuse, and the animals are going to a healthy farm/sanctuary where they will not be used to produce milk against their will or fattened up for meat. They deserve a happy life in a green pasture.

Would you cosponsor and vote for legislation to ban confining animals and other cruel practices such as (a) castration of pigs, cows, and other mammals without painkillers, (b) “debeaking” or “beak cutting” of chickens and turkeys without painkillers, (c) confinement of egg-laying hens in battery cages, (d) confinement of baby cows in veal crates, and (e) confinement of pigs in gestation crates?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

Yes, these extreme farming practices clearly cross the line of what should be an acceptable treatment of animals. We should not be separating baby animals from their parents and caging them. There is also no reason to perform any sort of medical procedure on an animal without any pain killers, this is simply abuse.

Would you cosponsor, support and vote for legislation S.7592/A.1301 (Brisport/Rosenthal) to require that any animal who escapes a slaughterhouse or transport vehicle be released to an animal sanctuary or other rescue, and require the owner of the facility from which the animals escaped to reimburse any associated costs?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

I support the text of the bill, requiring “the owner of any place or establishment where animals or fowls are slaughtered or butchered for food to reimburse costs associated with capture and return or rescue and rehabilitation of escaped animals.” The additional requirement of releasing the animal to a sanctuary or rescue is not required by the bill in its current form, but I would also support that.

8. Legal Rights for Animals

In 2018, in a decision denying a habeas corpus claim brought on behalf of two chimpanzees kept for decades in small cages inside of a warehouse, Justice Eugene M. Fahey of the New York Court of Appeals issued a concurring opinion stating the following:

“To treat a chimpanzee as if he or she had no right to liberty protected by habeas corpus is to regard the chimpanzee as entirely lacking independent worth, as a mere resource for human use, a thing the value of which consists exclusively in its usefulness to others.... While it may be arguable that a chimpanzee is not a “person,” there is no doubt that it is not merely a thing.

Do you believe that animals should have an individual legal right to bodily liberty, and if so, would you support legislation that establishes such a right?

YES / NO

Additional Comments:

This is very broadly worded, and I would love to see details on how this would work. Animals are certainly not “things” and should not be treated as such. Their rights should be enshrined in law to prevent them from suffering at the hands of people. That said, I would need to better understand the proposal. For example, would this apply to all animals or only self-aware animals like chimpanzees, elephants, dolphins, and orcas?

VOTERS FOR
